

Do These Look Familiar?

They were done by Christine Sniadach who generously supported the farm by decorating pumpkins that we then sold to raise money.

Christine is at it again except this time she's helping the Rockville Public Library!

Entitled 'Let Freedom Ring', this is just one of the 24" trees that you'll find at the Library's 3rd Annual Community Tree Festival Fundraiser!

The Tree Festival begins TODAY with an open-house reception, from 2PM until 4PM, that kicks off the bidding for the trees.

Over next two weeks, people can bid on the trees any time the library is open.

Be sure to check out the tree Strong Family Farm donated!

Bidding ends on Saturday, December 16th at 1:00. That's when the highest bidder gets to take home a unique, handcrafted, keepsake tree!

And that's not all that's happening at the library either!

On Sunday, December 3rd from 1PM until 3PM, the talented Rockville High School Carolers will be entertaining you with an afternoon full of festive holiday music, Light refreshments will be served as well!

And what would this holiday season be like without cookies?

For those of you who love homemade cookies, but don't have the time to make them, Friends of the Rockville Public Library have the solution for you!

Their annual fundraiser for the library is all about cookies!

Donated by community cooks, these cookies are a steal at $13 for 2 lbs!

We're Going to the Rockville Public Library!

Sunday, December 3rd, is SUPER MOON Day!

While November's moon looked super-sized, it missed being classified as a Super Moon by one day!

Sunday's full moon is the last of the year, and the last time this year that the moon will be as close to the earth as it can get.

If you're in the greater Hartford area, start looking for an enormous moon to be coming up over the horizon at around 4:50PM (clear skies permitting).

FYI - December's Moon is also called the Full Cold Moon.

All the best,

Quinn Eurich, Editor
